In the joint army and nevy excluses in Hampton Roads and the Chesapeake June lith to 17th. The other ship a assigned to this special duty are the battleship Massachusetts, the training ship Hartford and six torpedo boat destroyers.

The elaborate programme at first contemplated by the War and Navy Departments has been modified because of a reduction of the appropriation. The plans for offensive and defensive movements by both the land and naval forces, involvestrategic operations on a comprehensive scale. By the rules for the exercises, just issued to the officers of Chesapeake Bay artillery district, the operations are restricted to plans of attack on and defense of Fort Monroe, Baltimore and Washington. As a result of the changes, the operations will not be known as manocuvers, the term army and navy exercises having been officially designated. The defense of the three points will be confined to coast artillery, landing parties by the naval vessels engaged not being permitted.

Fire at Manassas.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

MANASSAS, VA., April 19.—Mr. James Hirkett, manager of "Annaburg," Mr. Robert Portner's fine estate, sustained considerable loss by fire last night, which burned his barn and out buildings and partly burned his dwelling house.

Mr. Birkett's property is just a short distance from the town limits, and but for the timely arrival of the fire company the house would have been destroyed. The fire originated in the near and was convoyed from it to the house. Mr. Birkett bought the property but a short time ago and the former owner only vacated yesterday. Consequently there was no one in the house, when the fire started, and its origin is not known.

MISS LOUISE CHILD A BRIDE

Weds Mr. William Sackett Duell of New York-Post-Wedding Reception.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ASHLAND, VA., April 19.—Mr. William Sackett Duell, of New York, and Miss Louise Child, of Ashland, were married here this evening in the Duncan Memorial Chapel at 6:30 o'clock. The wedding was, perhaps, the most brilliant that this little town has had in its history. Certainly, more distinguished visltors and attendants from a distance were here than at any time. Miss Child is the only daughter of Mrs. Louise Fisher, the widow of Mr. Jesse Child, of Richof Petershurg. The groom is a rising young physician. The large number of handsome presents received attest the popularity of the young couple.

ELEGANT WEDDING.

Miss Gertrude Venable Becomes the Bride of Lewis Ingles.

the Bride of Lewis Ingles.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RADFORD, VA, Abril 19.—The first marriage ever colebrated in the Radford Presbyterian Chuych occurred this evening, when Miss Gertrude Venable became the bride of Mr. Lowis linkles.

The marriage, though a quiet affair, owing to recent bereavement in the fanily of the bride, was extremely beautiful, and was witnessed by a large gathering of friends and relatives.

The church was charmingly decorated in pink and white, sliver candelabra shaded in pink, great quantities of white bridal wreath, palms, ferns and ropes of evergreen being effectively used. At $20 P. M. the bridal chorus from Lohengren was sung by a well-trained choir, with Dr. R. H. Cowan at the organ. Then the familar wedding march peated forth and the bridal party entered they church.

Following the ushers, Messes, W. A. Aston, William Ingles, Jr., James Bridand William Whaling, came the mald of honor, Miss Lucilo Miles, a cousin of the bride, from Fort Smith, Ark, Miss Miles, who is a stately brunette, was gowned in pink cerastions. The bride entered with her uncle, Colonel Oscar Miles, of

MRS. WILLIAM SACKETT DUELL,

Mrs. Duell, as Miss Louise Child, was considered one of the mest beautiful of young Southern girls. This picture of her, by Homeler and Clark, was awarded a medal by the Photographers' Association of America at its Chautauqua con-itself being on dress rehearsal through the inajesty of nature's sublimest mood, and at 6 o'clock the scene presented reminded one of Hyde Park Corner, in London, on an Easter Sunday.

The ceremony was solemnized by the joint services of the Episcopal and Methodist clergymen, Rev. E. T. Dadmun and Rev. S. S. Hepburn, and to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, by Kirk Matthews, of Richmond, the bridal party entered the church, Ushers—Messrs, Vaughan, Duell, Chase, Harrison and Warfield. Bridesmalds—Misses Cox. Blanton, Ellicoe, McCullen, and Misseple Blackwell as mail of honor. Mr. C. H. Duell acted as best man. The bride was given away by Mr. Robert Child. During the ceremony the sweet strains of "Oh, Belleve Me." were rendered by the organist.

A delightful reception at the home of the bride immediately after the ceremony, and music was furnished by Thilow's Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Duell left to-night for Savannah, Ga.

The groom is connected with the American Tobacco Company, and will probably be transferred at an early date from Lancaster, Pa., to Richmond, Va. Among those present were the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Duell, Mrs. Bertha Cushing Child, Miss Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Stone, Mr. Robert Child, Miss Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Sands, Mr. and Mrs. Cottrell, Misses Cardoza, Mr. Hobson, Miss Rice, Miss Bridges, Mrs. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Smithey, Mrs. Hoofnasie, Professor and Mrs. Phelps.

ELEGANT HOME EVENT.

Marriage of Dr. Driver to Miss

Marriage of Dr. Driver to Miss

Ida Valentine Trice.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CARTERSVILLE, VA., April 19.—The home of Mr. P. J. Trice, of Trice's Mill, was the scene of a beautiful marrieg today at one o'clock, when his daughter, Ida Valentine, became the bride of Dr. William Franklin Driver, of Petersburg, Va. The ceremony was performed by William Franklin Driver, of Cartersville.

To the strains of Lohangrin's wedding march the bridal party entered the partior. Miss Eva Kule, of Petersburg, or Miss Eva Kule, of Petersburg, amaid of honor, wearing white mousseline over green taffeta and carrying carrations, with Dr. Williams, of Wise county, as best man. Mrs. Alohel, of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She also wore white mousselane over green taffeta, and carried carnations. Then came the bride, wearing a handsome suit of champagne cloth, and carrying a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley, leaning on the arm of the groom. Mr. Alohel was master of cremonles. Durling the ceramony "Cupid's Garden" was rendered by Miss Kats Flangan.

After the ceremony a wedding lunched was served, after which the bridal party drove to Pemberton to take the east-bound train for Richmond, thence to points in the North.

The bride is the charming and attractive daughter of Mr. P. J. Trice, formerly mond, a distinguished Confederate soldier, and widely known as typical of true Southern beauty. The groom is the second son of Judge C. H. Duell, of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, and for many years United States Commissioner of Patents.

Everything seemed particularly propitious for an April wedding, the town itself being on dress rehearsal through the inajesty of nature's sublimest mood, and at 6 o'clock the seene presented repairs of the properties of th an's skilled fingers, sounding softly meanwhile.

The marriage service ended, the bridat party left the church to the triumphant strains of Mendelschin.

At/10 P. M. Mr. and Mrā, Ingles left for a two weeks' bridel tour, most of which will be spent in Boston with the brides mother, Mrs. L. M. Venable, and her brother. Paymaster George Venable, U. S. N.

The bride is attractive and popular and an accomplished sausician. She is the daughter of the late Prof. P. M. Venable, of Sullins College, Bristol, and a niece of the late Colonel George W. Miles, of Radford. The bridegroem is a son of Mr. McClamahan Ingles, He was prominent in athieties at V. P. I., being captain, of the foot-bail toam for several years, and afterwards captain of the Al-Southern team. He is president of the Ingles Coul Company at Ell. Ky., and owns a larger farm near Radford, on which he resides.

Mr. Ingles is highly esteemed, and like his bride, is a member of an old and prominent family of the Southwest. Both are popular and earry with them the hearty good wishes of a large circle of friends.

Among the out-of-town relatives who attended the marriage were Colonel Oscar Miles, of Fort Smith, Afk.; Miss Mary
